Don't announce that she is to be a great lobster outfit. It is to be a great lobster outfit.

Still it was not Harry Lehr's "in name modesty" that first set people talking about him.

New Jersey turns against the trusts. It is the "extreme and ultimate limit" as the press agent says.

"A man cannot have too much money," says Russell Sage. But there are cases where the money has the man.

Think of the possibility that the Eskimos may have discovered oil and natural gas on the north pole ago ago.

You can now travel at the rate of two miles a minute if you have the right kind of automobile and are tired of life.

Joe Chamberlain ought not to have much difficulty in managing his party, seeing how little of it there is left to manage.

The output of gold last year was $375,000,000. This is gratifying, but not necessarily the cause of individual rejoicing.

Gold is getting too cheap, says a contemporary. The individual experience of the citizen scarcely bears out that statement.

The government made only five silver dollars in 1905. Still that was doing pretty well. Some men didn't make even that much.

It seems that Harry Lehr was riding Town Topics would make him ridiculous. Evidently Harry wanted that job all to himself.

It must be the king of Spain a little to know that the British people are not wildly enthusiastic about taking him into the family.

It is stated that a Cossack gets about 5 cents a day—while in his case may be regarded as a fair day's wages for a fair day's work.

The steel trust earned $120,000,000 last year. So did we, according to our way of looking at it; but we didn't collect quite that much.

Chicago housewives want a four-hour day, this being a reduction of about ten hours from the time many of them are on duty.

How we love to talk of the wonderful things we have not done. The reason for this is that nothing is wonderful if it has been done.

"Self-Supporting Home" is the title of a new book. If it can "make good," it is the book for which mankind has been waiting these 5,000 years.

An automobile that can travel a mile in twenty-eight seconds would seem to need only a pair of wings and a rudder to be a flying machine.

Never mind, even if you can't go down to Florida, and pick fans off the palm trees. You can read the automobile news from Ormond beach.

A Chicago man has evolved the ideal hen. We never dreamed it was possible to get a hen that you could eat without interfering with its output of eggs.

Dr. Parkhurst says that "no gentleman swears." He should make an exception in favor of Elbridge T. Gerry, who swore like sixty at a Town Topics solicitor.

It seems as if King Alfonso might pick out some more romantic place to meet his bride than Biarritz—the town with the name like the rasping of a crosscut saw.

New Haven has a bachelors' club which was organized to repel woman-kind. There is nothing to indicate, however, that its members are in danger of a siege.

Bernard Shaw writes to an American clipping bureau that he has been "cured of vanity, of curiosity, of ambition." Now watch him and see how long he will stay cured.

Andrew Lang is prying about fiction when he remarks that most modern heroines are married women, and he probably wouldn't venture the assertion that all married women are heroines.

The late Gen. Wheeler was a devoted Christian, notwithstanding his memorable ejaculation to the boys as they marched up San Juan hill. Some things should be allowed for the enthusiasm of the occasion.

It seems absurd to try to prove that a young woman in Philadelphia is insane just because she wanted to have her dog taught French. All fashionable dogs in Boston can speak French just as well as French dogs can.

A story comes from New Jersey of a dog that had a narrow escape from being killed by a trolley-car a few weeks ago and has turned wild in consequence of the fright it received. Obviously this story will have to be taken on trust.

The Duke of Manchester, Pa. Zimmerman's son-in-law, has been made lord of the manor in King Edward's Borough. It is not likely, however, that the young man will be able to get enough out of the job to enable him to return to his law's checks and balances.

The drydock Dewey is about the exact antithesis of the cup defender that Sir Thomas Lipton and his countrymen couldn't beat. Why doesn't Sir Thomas build a drydock now and challenge the Dewey to a slow race?

A law clerk in New York has brought suit against the lawyer of a restaurant, just because he had been questioning a wife said that was perfect, to her in a place of public place. The restaurant owner says the clerk was not to be questioned.

FARMERS' STRIKE NEXT

American Society of Equity Will Try to Force Higher Prices.

Indianapolis, Ind., A strike of the 200,000 farmers composing the American Society of Equity, an organization with headquarters in Indianapolis, has been called for March 1. Every one who responds to this call will agree to withhold from markets any agricultural products excepting at prices that are up to the level that has been agreed as equitable by the officials of this organization.

"This organization claims that the producer ought to get at least $1 a bushel for wheat, no matter what may be the size of the crop. The call of the strike sets forth a minimum selling price on all farm products, prices which the agricultural strikers claim they are entitled to and can get if they stand together."

Kansas and Minnesota are being flooded with copies of this call. It is signed by the officials of the organization that if these states should follow for the higher prices the movement will prove a success.

The securities were the property of two women, one of whom resides at St. Louis and the other at Kiowa, Kan.

Shot for Roasting Town.

Clinton, Ind.: Miss Pearl Evelyn, leading lady of the Chicago Stock Company, playing a one-night engagement at the local theater, was shot and severely wounded Friday night by an unidentified member of the audience. The shot was evidently inspired by civic patriotism, as it was fired during a storm of hisses and cat-calls which greeted Miss Evelyn's efforts to suppress the citizens of Clinton by roasting them and their city. The man escaped.

FIGHT FOR NEW TRIAL.

Patrick Again Leaves Death Cell for Court Room.

New York: Albert T. Patrick has again been brought from the death house in Sing Sing to court. This time to confront his former lawyer, Fred Hays. Patrick is fighting for a new trial on the plea that newly discovered evidence will show that Charles Jones has confessed that he lied when he accused Patrick of causing him to kill William Marsh Rice. The District Attorney hopes to have Hays testify that the story told on the witness stand by Jones was identical with that told him by Jones and Patrick when the first trial was held. Hays testified that the story told on the witness stand by Jones was identical with that told him by Jones and Patrick when the first trial was held. Hays testified that the story told on the witness stand by Jones was identical with that told him by Jones and Patrick when the first trial was held.

But there is no let-up in the interesting testimony of the Texas man who have been brought here to testify that Jones told them he lied when he accused Patrick of causing him to kill William Marsh Rice. And they are "licking" up quite a bit, too.

Joseph Jordan, the lame veteran of a coal car collision, explained away a lot of unpleasant things by telling about his cousin, having the same name and being lame like him and exactly the same age. This cousin, Jordan stated, was the Jordan who had been sent to prison and who had been crippled by a bullet from a warden's gun while trying to break jail. Jordan had his opinion of District Attorney Jerome, who insisted on asking him personal questions on the cross-examination.

Among the buildings destroyed were the First National Bank of Hitchcock, the Vanguard newspaper office, Central telephone office, four general mercantile stores, two hardware stores, two hotels, one drug store, two saloons, a barber shop, restaurant, military store, blacksmith shop and three residences.

Miner's Head Declines Nomination for Congress.

New York: The nomination for Congress in the Peoria district has been offered to John Mitchell, president of the United Mine Workers of America. He declined to decline the honor. Spring Valley, Ill., is Mitchell's home, and the nomination would be equivalent to an election.

His expressed reason for declining to run is that he is bound to devote all his time to the miners.

President Mitchell announced that it would be several days before the committee now drafting the demands to be made of the anthracite mine operators would complete its work and meet the committee of the operators.

He also said that no information as to the nature of the demands would be divulged before they are presented to the operators.

A deafening report, followed by the groans of the injured, resulted.

Says Lynchings Justifiable. Ithica, N. Y.: Dr. Andrew White, former Ambassador to Germany, and first president of Cornell University, addressed the students on the problem of "high crime" in the United States. Among other things, he said: "The number of homicides that are punished by lynching exceeds those punished by due process of law. When we consider that out of every forty-six homicides committed in the United States, only one in forty-six is legally punished, it is no wonder that people look elsewhere for the solution."

Every passenger on the train, save three, was injured. Those who escaped were Omar D. Gray, editor of the Sturgeon (Mo.) Leader and D. Woods and Arthur Bruton, of Centralia.

One of the coaches caught fire, but was saved by prompt work on the part of several farmers living near the scene of the wreck who rushed to the aid of the injured passengers.

Every physician and nurse at Hallsville and Centralia answered the call, and a special train was soon at the scene of the wreck.

The injured were taken to the company's hospital at Moberly. It is not believed that any person is fatally hurt.

FOUND DEAD IN A CISTERN.

J. W. Bell's Body Discovered on Farm by Brother-in-Law.

Boonville, Mo.: The body of J. W. Bell was found about 6 o'clock Friday morning by his brother-in-law, W. A. Hoefler, in a cistern on his farm, eight miles east of here.

Mr. Bell was highly interested in the C. C. Bell Fruit Company, of Boonville, and was a brother of Colonel Charles C. Bell, the well-known politician.

Bell recently sold his fine residence in Boonville and had intended to make his home on the farm, and his wife and three children were temporarily residing with her mother in Boonville. He and Hoefler had gone to the farm the day before to kill hogs.

Hoefler found Bell's body empty when he awoke, and later saw Bell's coat and rubbers near the cistern, which was open. Neighbors were summoned and grappled for the body.

Later a letter of considerable length was found, telling where his valuable papers could be found and advising his wife to dispose of certain property. In it he complained of headache, and the supposition is that he was suffering from temporary insanity.

Did Not Know It Was Loaded. Butler, Mo.: Another accident happened with a "did not know it was loaded" gun in this county Saturday, when Thomas Callahan, a grocer near Mayburg, accidentally shot Ernest Serrano, a 19-year-old boy, who was in his store, through the thigh with a large calibre revolver. On Magnate Notifies Hadley He Will Appear March 1. Jefferson City, Mo.: A hearing is to be held in St. Louis March 1 in the inquiry being prosecuted by Attorney General Hadley into the Standard Oil Company's methods. Among the witnesses to appear is H. Clay Pierce, in New York there was an agreement reached that Mr. Pierce, who had consented to give testimony, should be permitted to do so in Missouri, a privilege he requested, and that he would testify between February 1 and March 1. Attorney General Hadley asked him to give his testimony next Monday, but he declined to do so, saying he would take the final day of the time specified.

With the evidence which Mr. Pierce gives, and with that to be taken in Oklahoma City next Wednesday, the attorney general will have completed his case against the Standard Oil Company in New York, which can not be held, however, until the Missouri Supreme Court shall have decided, whether or not a witness is to be permitted to refuse to answer questions which relate to stock ownership. The Supreme Court meets Wednesday, and it is believed that it will pass upon this matter.

VANDIVER RENEWS FIGHT. Solicitation of Votes for Directors Violation of By-Laws. St. Louis: Insurance Superintendent Vandiver is after the big Eastern life insurance companies again. His latest objection is opposition to the methods of one of the big three among the New York companies in soliciting proxies from its policy holders in Missouri for its annual election of trustees, which takes place in a few weeks. The company's agents have been busy for two weeks in St. Louis and out in the State getting policy holders to sign proxies delegating their votes to three directors of the company. The same method is being pursued in other States in accordance with instructions sent out from the home office.

Mr. Vandiver says the plan is a direct violation of the company's by-laws, recently changed, and that he will not permit it. He stated with great emphasis yesterday that trouble is ahead for the company in Missouri if it persists in keeping in the proxy business, through agents or officials, directly or indirectly.

MISSOURI PLANT WRECKED. Women Only Slightly Injured in Powder Accident. Louisiana, Mo.: Three men were killed and twenty girls were injured by an explosion at the Hercules powder plant, eighteen miles north of here Saturday.

The three killed, employees of the plant, were named Booth, Wright and Nord, and all lived at Hannibal, Mo. The explosion occurred in the punching house, which is equipped with machinery, and the debris from this structure demolished the old punching house, where a number of women and boys were at work punching dynamite into molds which form dynamite sticks.

All of the women were slightly injured, but, fortunately, the building they were in did not blow up. The fact that the punching of dynamite in the house in which the explosion occurred is done by machinery accounts for the fact that there were but three persons in the building at the time.

The Hercules plant is one of the largest dynamite manufacturing plants in the country. It produced one-fourth of the output of the United States last year, according to the census. The plant is worth $500,000 and employs 300 persons.

PAST MAIL WRECKED.

Jumped Track Near St. Louis and 14 Are Injured.

St. Louis: From Mountain past mail No. 7, which has for several weeks been competing with the Wyand and M. K. & T. for the southwest government contract, was wrecked at Loughboro bridge in Carondelet Monday morning after 3 a. m., injuring 14 men, composing the train and mail crews. Engineer A. C. (Otto) Brunneke and fireman Peter Rafferty were the most seriously injured. Both are at the Missouri Pacific hospital, Rafferty suffering from skull fractures and Brunneke suffering from lacerations and bruises. He is also believed to be seriously injured.

The entire train, engine, two mail cars and a baggage coach were turned over into gulches on both sides of the rails when the train left the track. The engine and tender toppled to the left, falling two and one-half feet into a gulch. The mail cars and baggage coach shot off at a tangent to the right and landed in a gulch.

Fortunately for the occupants of the coaches the train did not catch fire. Neighbors in the vicinity of the wreck were awakened by the crunching of the wheels beneath the giant engine as it plowed its way to destruction.

Spreading rails, caused by the engine striking a sharp curve too speedily are thought to have been the primary cause of the accident.

RUSSIA ALARMED.

Possibility of U. S. Flag on Arctic Land Across the Casp.

St. Petersburg: "Prevent by all means at your disposal Capt. Knier Mikkelson from hoisting the American flag on any continent or island which he may discover in the Arctic Ocean north of East Siberia and between Avangel Island and the Far Islands."

Such a brief as the orders the Russian Government has sent to the Governor-General of East Siberia concerning the purpose and possible results of a polar expedition which President Roosevelt is patronizing, it is understood here.

These orders follow a violent attack on "American rapacity" the Novorossyia made a few days ago. That newspaper commented on the report that Capt. Mikkelson had promised President Roosevelt to raise the American flag on the Arctic continent he expects to discover. It asserted that all new territory that can be discovered north of Siberia is Russian, accused the United States of trifling with the interests of Russia for commercial motives, and appealed for a protest against even an attempt by Mikkelson to carry out his plans.

TORPEDO BOAT DISABLED.

Winslow Breaks Down Off Cape Henry and Tug Sent to Aid.

Norfolk, Va.: A special message over the United States Weather Bureau's seacoast telegraph wires to the commandant of the Norfolk navy yard Friday said: "The torpedo boat Winslow is broken down southeast of Cape Henry and wants immediate assistance."

Rear Admiral Harrington at once dispatched the naval tug Melhawk to the assistance of the Winslow. She should reach the Winslow by 1 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The Winslow was bound from the New York Navy Yard to Norfolk. She, in all probability, became disabled while making for the Virginia capes and was carried in the tide southeast of Cape Henry, which is considerably out of her course.

A negro about 25 years of age, whose name is unknown, was arrested soon after by Col. S. Ward and a posse of deputies and citizens and immediately hurried to the jail. A mob assembled about the jail, demanding vengeance, but after a speech
